DEATH OF OAP AN 'AWFUL MISTAKE'

'FULL OF LIFE':
Joan Roskilly

100-year old gran knocked down outside supermarket entrance

A DAGENHAM woman has avoided going to prison for causing the death of 100-year-old Joan Roskilly in a collision in Shoeburyness.

Cherise Lyons, 57, of Kingsmill Road, was given a suspended prison sentence and banned from driving for three years at Basildon Crown Court on Thursday, May 31.

Ms Roskilly, of Thorpe Bay, was walking into the Asda supermarket in North Shoebury Road with a friend – at around 1.50pm on Tuesday, November 29, 2016 – when she was struck by a silver Renault Traffic minibus, driven by Lyons.

Lyons had been waiting outside the store while a friend had gone inside to buy flowers.

As her friend returned, Lyons stepped on the accelerator pedal instead of the brake, sending the car forward, colliding with Ms Roskilly and into the front of the store.

"We miss nan deeply and are traumatised by the circumstances in which she was killed. She was full of energy and so proud to have received her telegram from the queen..."

Ms Roskilly was taken to hospital but later died.

Lyons was charged with causing death by dangerous driving. She denied the charge at Southend Magistrates Court on December 12, 2017, but admitted a lesser charge of causing death by careless driving.

Following a two-day trial at Basildon Crown Court, Lyons was found not guilty of causing death by dangerous driving on Thursday.

She was sentenced to eight months in prison – suspended for two years – disqualified from driving for three years, ordered to carry out 120 hours of unpaid work, and told to pay £220 court costs and victim surcharge.

A statement from Ms Roskilly's family, read out in court, said: "We miss our nan deeply and have been left traumatised by the circumstances in which she was killed.

"It has been such a deep loss to lose someone so close to us all. She had reached 100 years of age but was still so energetic and full of life. She was so proud to have just received her telegram from the Queen.

"We are struggling to move on and hope to gain some closure from the court process."

Inspector Rob Brettell, from the serious collision investigation unit, said: "The death of Joan Roskilly is an awful case of a mistake which ended in tragedy.

"Cherise Lyons admitted her liability and has shown remorse for what happened.

"This case shows that whether you be on the road or in a car park, if you are in charge of a vehicle it requires your undivided attention."

Councils agree to joint approach on housing over next 20 years

Councils team up for housing push

By Piers Meyler

BBC local democracy reporter

COUNCILS across south Essex have agreed a common approach to ensure the development of housing and key infrastructure over the next 20 years meet proposed targets.

The Association of South Essex Local Authorities (ASELA) – made up of Basildon, Brentwood, Castle Point, Essex County, Rochford, Southend-on-Sea and Thurrock councils – has drafted a Statement of Common Ground that aims to ensure that the 90,000 required homes across south Essex over the next 20 years are built.

The statement is also hoped to assist plans to ensure new transport links, health and social infrastructure, business and skill opportunities are fully developed.

Councillor Louise McKinlay, leader of Brentwood Council and chairwoman of ASELA, said: "We are working collectively and across our district borders for our vision for south Essex's future."

"This is not just about providing more housing, it's about much more than that."

"It's looking at developing new and improved transport links and roads, new health, medical and care facilities, schools and creating business and skill opportunities across south Essex to support a growing economy.

"All of this needs to be part of the proposals very early on."

The Government is looking to local authorities to prepare statements of common ground as part of a new Local Plan process, and more specifically, to provide the main evidence to demonstrate that strategic planning matters have been dealt with effectively and the legal provisions of the Duty to Cooperate have been met.

ASELA has been a national pilot for the new process and is the first collective of local authorities to reach this stage of the scheme.

Between the local authority areas, 4,500 homes need to be built each year over the next 20 years (90,000) to meet Government housing targets.

Cllr McKinlay added: "Our aim is to get the best for our residents over the next 20 years and ensure they can take advantage of the exciting opportunities and new jobs that we can expect in the future."

"We are committed to working together to take a coordinated and joined-up approach and will make a very clear case to Government to provide funding for the major infrastructure that south Essex will need in order to grow."

'This is not just about housing – it's also about transport links, healthcare facilities, schools and supporting a growing economy across south Essex...'

Cllr Louise McKinlay

NEWS IN BRIEF

Racist graffiti plea

● POLICE are appealing for information after racist graffiti was written on beach huts and seating areas in Shoeburyness.

Racial abuse was written on huts in Shoebury Common Road, and is believed to have happened overnight between Saturday, May 12 and Sunday, May 13.

Essex Police said: "The Southend Community Policing Team conducted high visibility patrols in response to the incident and found further graffiti containing racial abuse on two beach huts and two seating areas. This happened between May 29 and May 30."

Anyone with information can call police on 101 quoting the crime reference numbers 42/66455/18 or 42/75218/18, or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Pier visitors record

● SOUTHEND Council has revealed that more people visited the town's pier last month than in any May since records began in 2006.

This May, there were 47,048 visitors to the landmark, almost 10,000 more than the previous highest of 37,349 in May 2016. More than 15,000 visitors visited on the early May Bank Holiday weekend.

Cllr James Courtenay, executive councillor for growth, said: "We remain committed to investing in the pier to widen its offer and appeal and ensure Southend is able to compete against rival resorts."

Beach shelter boost

● FOUR sun shelters are to be built on City Beach in Southend to give residents and visitors a new area to relax and eat.

The shelters have been designed by the council's in-house architecture team, with construction expected to start next week.

Funding of £45,000 was set aside by councillors as part of the 2018-2019 budget.

The new shelters are expected to be ready to use later this month.

In-home care gets £1m nursing boost

By Michael Cox

southend@yellowad.co.uk

A £1 MILLION service has been introduced that will see nurses and care assistants treat people in their own homes across Southend, Castle Point and Rochford.

The new scheme, called Swift, is part of an investment in 'out of hospital' services in the area by NHS Southend Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG), and NHS Castle Point and Rochford CCG.

The team of nurses and care assistants will visit patients within two hours of a referral from a GP, district nurse, or ambulance staff to "stabilise their immediate health needs", a Castle Point and Rochford CCG spokesman said.

The service has been trialled across areas in south east Essex.

Dr Amanda Pinkerton, a GP who has been involved in the design of the service, said: "This isn't about not admitting people that need to be in hospital. It's about supporting GPs to keep people at home where appropriate and freeing up hospital services for those that really need them."

The Swift team operates seven days a week between 8am and 10pm.

Ryan Webb, clinical manager at Essex Partnership University Trust and a member of the team, said: "We have nurses and care assistants who can provide support and care at short notice at times of crisis.

"We are able to monitor patients in the community while providing the necessary medication, interventions and care to help them feel better.

"An experienced nurse will assess patient needs, develop a plan of care in conjunction with existing services and put these into place with the patient's consent."

Tricia D'Orsi, chief nurse at both Castle Point and Rochford and Southend CCGs, added: "The Swift service is a great example of how nursing is now a modern and dynamic profession.

"The roles being fulfilled across south east Essex are varied and the skills vast as we attempt to deliver high quality care and improve the patient experience."

TRIBUTE: Children from Hinguar Primary and Royal British Legion members were at the dedication ceremony at St Andrew's Church in Shoeburyness

Children join war graves dedication

PUPILS from a Shoeburyness school attended a service to honour those who lost their lives in the First World War.

Schoolchildren from Hinguar Primary were at St Andrew's Church in Shoeburyness on Monday to help with poppy dedications on war graves in the cemetery. They were joined by Cllr Derek Jarvis, Mayor of Southend, as well as members of the Royal British Legion.

It was part of the final phase of the Southend Schools Festival of Remembrance (SSFR) project, created by Blade Education with the Leigh branch of the Royal British Legion.

Poppies were made by 25 schools across the borough, including Hinguar, in November and those poppies will be dedicated to war graves in Southend.

The SSFR project, funded by money from the Heritage

Lottery Fund, has worked with volunteers and children to make exhibitions and give classrooms sessions on the importance of remembrance.

Project manager Beth Hooper said: "We are very grateful to everyone that has supported this project."

"It has allowed young and old to come together to find out about our past and think about what remembrance means for our future."

RAINBOW FLAG: Sam Adams, an organiser of Southend Pride

Pride festival returns after a 15-year hiatus

A SOUTHEND Pride festival is returning after a 15-year absence.

A parade will take place as part of the festival day on Saturday, July 21.

It will start at the bottom end of High Street on Pier Hill and march up High Street from noon, before ending in Warrior Square gardens.

There is then set to be a festival with community organisations, food stalls and entertainment.

Throughout the week leading up to the day, a number of events are due to take place including music and comedy.

Dan Turpin, event organiser, said: "We have a great week planned with loads of events planned to kickstart our Pride celebrations in Southend but we know there are more community groups to exhibit their work, caterers to provide catering and acts to perform on our main stage to get involved that could add value to our event."

To get involved in the community event email info@southendpride.org.uk.

Hospital team in running for cancer patient care award

NOMINATED: Ann French, Tara White and Wendy Davies, urology enhanced recovery programme nurse at Southend Hospital

A TEAM at Southend Hospital has been shortlisted for a national safety award for care of urology cancer patients.

The hospital is up for a Health Service Journal patient safety award.

Among the things the hospital has done is to create a patient passport, which contains operation notes, blood results, x-ray reports and an overview of treatment, according to Ann French, lead urology oncology clinical nurse specialist.

Ann added: "When patients go home, which may be 60 miles away, if they need to see their GP or attend A&E, patients can use the passport so clinicians can understand their treatment. It also keeps patients in the loop."

A patient coordinator has also been introduced who organises pre-assessments and tests on the same day, travel arrangements and meets patients face-to-face at the pre-admission clinic.

Tara White, patient coordinator, said: "Patients don't want to keep being passed from pillar to post and repeating their story."

"It's like I'm their own cancer personal assistant, someone who knows exactly what is going on with each and every patient."

"It gives them one less thing to worry about and feedback has been that it takes a huge weight off their mind."

Brexit and the Avoiding Tax Directive

I'M at a loss to understand, with all the talk of Brexit, how the matter of the EU's Anti Tax Avoidance Directive that comes into effect on January 1, 2019 gets no comment at all.

All member states have to write this into local law and, unless Brexiteers can get the UK out before then, the crackdown will be upon our banks, accountants and law firms that enable offshore tax avoidance schemes to our national disbenefit.

The public should be aware.

Prince's Countryside Fund grants

THE ongoing effects of weather, bureaucracy and concern for the future continue to put our countryside under pressure, with few avenues to turn to for support. This can have dramatic consequences for the rural economy and the people who live and work there.

The Prince's Countryside Fund is committed to supporting community-led projects, that will reinvigorate and sustain farming networks and the countryside by providing services and amenities through its grant programme.

Open for applications until June 14 grants are available for up to £50,000. If you are involved in a community-run or farming support project, and think that your organisation may benefit – or if you know someone else who might – please get in touch straight away by visiting www.princescountryside-fund.org.uk/grants.

The fund has supported a diverse range of projects delivered locally and we are proud to have distributed over £9million since 2010 to more than 250 projects led by these grassroots organisations.

The Prince's Countryside Fund believes it is crucial that rural areas are helped during these times of change to retain a thriving countryside and encourage a sustainable farming sector in the UK.

ALI GRIFFIN is Southend Council's latest chief executive. YA reporter MICHAEL COX meets her to hear how she is settling in to her new role

I'm driven by making a difference for residents

MOTIVATOR: Ali Griffin in her Southend Council office

"PEOPLE always comment on the fact that I'm still smiling. I'm a bit worried at what they were expecting to happen."

The responsibility of running a borough in her first chief executive job certainly does not seem to have dampened Ali Griffin's enthusiasm just yet.

Appointed last July to replace the retiring Rob Tinlin, she describes her role as a "huge privilege" and says "it's everything I hoped for and more".

Ali has worked in local government for more than 20 years, having started in government practice at global accountancy firm PricewaterhouseCoopers.

She has worked in a variety of council roles, including most recently in London boroughs Camden and Bexley, where she was director of finance.

"I always knew I wanted to come into local government when I was young so that's a bit of a weird thing to know, I know. That's because I'm really driven by making that difference for residents and I feel that local government, as opposed to central government which I feel is quite distant from people, is at the front face of it, it's in the thick of it, and I like that energy it brings."

She admitted that the diversity of the chief executive role had been a change but said she was growing into it.

"I don't think it's been as big a step up as sometimes people think from the outside."

"Having worked in London boroughs for most of my career, you get to see it up close and you really have to think about it seriously if you want to be a chief executive because there are lots of demands and pressures as you would expect."

When quizzed on her leadership style, she described it as open and honest.

"I like to engage and motivate people. I'm not that interested about what grade you are, I'm more interested in your experience and what you bring to the table."

"I think we've been a council that can be quite paternalistic in our approach and I want to encourage people to be more proactive and if they see an issue, feel they can grab it and deal with it."

Originally from Croydon, Ali has relocated by herself to live in the centre of Southend, which "helps with the late night meetings".

She has family links to the town through her father's cousins, and enjoys walking on the pier and jogging along the seafront, as well as visiting the Focal Point Gallery.

Her short term aims for the borough include "making the town safer, thinking about the town centre's future and how that's going to change over time and addressing the homelessness issue".

She admitted she is glad she made the move to Southend.

"It's been good to get to know a different part of the country, how people think and feel – it's different to Londoners, and I respect that and I find that quite energetic."

"That entrepreneurial, independent spirit, I like that pride that people have and that's something I think we can really work with."

MP calls for discounts on tickets after rail disruption

MEETING: Mark Francois MP, left, with Jamie Burles and Jonathan Denby from Abellio Greater Anglia

A CONSERVATIVE MP called a meeting with rail bosses and urged them to give passengers discounts after engineering works caused more than a year of disruption.

Mark Francois, MP for Rayleigh and Wickford, called representatives from Abellio Greater Anglia, which runs the Southend Victoria to London Liverpool Street line.

Passengers have suffered lengthy evening and weekend lines closures due to work on overhead lines and construction for the Crossrail project.

The company's managing director Jamie Burles and head of public affairs Jonathan Denby met Mr Francois at his office in Westminster.

A statement issued by Mr Francois's office said: "Mark reiterated his belief that while these engineering works continue, commuters should be given a discount on their season ticket as compensation for the disruption they have had to put up with.

"Mark also put pressure on the rail bosses over the fact that, due to maintenance problems, some trains during peak commuter periods have only eight carriages rather than the normal twelve, thus forcing a number of people to stand all the way into London."

Mr Francois added: "I took this opportunity to try to get over to the rail company the degree of frustration which has been expressed to me by commuters who use Abellio's line."

"These engineering works have gone on for over a year now and I really think the time has come when my constituents deserve some form of compensation for everything they have had to put up with."

Asked to comment on Mr Francois's statement, Greater Anglia said it and Network Rail were "investing millions of pounds" to replace overhead lines and introduce new trains with wi-fi, air conditioning and plug and USB sockets.

A spokesman said: "We understand customers' frustration while this vital engineering work is being carried out, which is why we have offered Southend season ticket holders a special offer for travel at weekends for their friends and family."

"Customers can always complete their journeys during engineering works, although part of their journey might be by bus."

"Running a replacement bus service costs us extra money, as we need to hire buses and extra staff to make sure transitions between train and us are as smooth as possible."

"Refunds for engineering works are not part of the railway compensation scheme."

Get lost in meze of Akropolis

ONE of the area's most popular Greek restaurants has attracted a growing band of fans since opening more than 10 years ago.

With 25 main dishes, 28 starters, two set meals, and a variety of desserts on the menu, there is always something new to try at the Akropolis in Westcliff.

For those with a large appetite, Akropolis serves a Greek Meze menu every day for £21.95 per person.

The menu, which introduces diners to the Cypriot way of eating, starts with tasty dips and pitta bread, and is followed by cold starters and fish dishes, Cypriot wine sausages, smoked loin of pork and grilled goat's milk cheese.

Then it's on to the meats, and kleftico and stifado for those looking for more. To finish there are Greek pastries and fresh fruits.

The Akropolis Meze, available for two or more people, is ideal for parties.

The Kleftico Feast, includes traditional dips and pitta bread, kleftico, pastries and a platter of fresh fruits, for £19.95 per person.

The mouth-watering food is not the only Akropolis attraction, the restaurant also produces a good line in live music on most days of the week.

The restaurant, which can seat up to 60 people, has a fully licensed bar that can cater for everything from a quiet meal for two to birthday celebrations.

With its experienced chefs and friendly, helpful staff, Akropolis offers a top quality, value-for-money evening out.

Akropolis, which can satisfy dietary needs and offers child-friendly dishes, is open from 5pm to midnight from Monday to Thursday, 5pm to 1am on Friday and Saturday, and from noon to midnight on Sunday.

It is at 120 Station Road, Westcliff with parking available near the Cliffs Pavilion.

To book call 01702 437963 or visit www.akropolis.co.uk.

Home of the week

Badger Hall Avenue, Thundersley

IN this exclusive position, accessed via a private road, a detached residence forming a substantial plot of extensive west backing gardens and beautiful woodland providing a peaceful and tranquil environment yet is within close proximity to local amenities.

Clearly homes of this nature, in this picturesque setting are seldom available on the open market and we therefore politely suggest discerning applicants make an early appointment to view.

Viewing is essential to appreciate the scenic surroundings of this fine three bedroom home forming a substantial plot backing onto and including extensive woodland leading to Thundersley Glen.

With a sweep in and out driveway, a car port, and accommodation which is superbly maintained and presented, this home is exceptional – a rare opportunity indeed.

A STRESS FREE DAY

I have moved 4 times and each move was a highly stressful experience. With all kinds of things going wrong so I was delighted when this move with Stuart Thomas went like a well oiled machine. What problems that did crop up were easily dealt with by Stuart and his staff. I can't praise them enough, well done all of you.

FAB CUSTOMER SERVICE

We signed up with Stuart Thomas and they sold our property within in a week! The staff are always contactable if we had queries and very helpful when we were looking for a property ourselves too. If we move again we know who we'd ask for help!

AMAZING!

They are really amazing estate agents. 4 viewings in 24 hours, 2 offers and sold. Really pushed the sale through for us, start to finish will be 1 month! Nothing was too much trouble for them, always happy to help and the whole team so friendly. Would recommend to anyone!

THE BEST AGENT WE HAVE EVER USED

We cannot thank Stuart and his team enough for all their help with our recent house move. They kept us up to date on how things were progressing and any problems were quickly resolved. We would certainly recommend them to our family and friends and would have no hesitation in using them again for any future property moves.

Taking the risk out of property rental

When choosing a lettings agent you want a company that's experienced and reputable, with access to a large number of reliable tenants.

Airport Lettings is based at the heart of Stansted Airport and London Southend, one of the UK's fastest growing airports.

For 18 years we've made the most of that connection to help match reliable tenants with discerning landlords. After all, if you didn't trust the people who work at the airport, you'd never get on a plane!

Stobart Air are recruiting pilots and cabin crew who will be based at Southend, so we need high quality furnished and unfurnished accommodation to meet the needs of these vital new staff members.

"I will not offer you any tenants that I would not be happy to have in my own home."

Call for action on auto-braking

By David Whinyates

BRITAIN'S leading crash research organisation has called on the Government to act on making Autonomous Emergency Braking (AEB) mandatory on all new cars and vans following the announcement of new road safety proposals by the European Commission.

Thatcham Research is just one of a long line of safety organisations, including IAM RoadSmart, RoSPA and Euro NCAP, which have been calling for legislation to make the fitting of the potentially life-saving emergency braking technology compulsory.

Now, the EU looks set to meet the demands following the long-awaited publication of proposals which, if approved by member states, could be introduced from 2020 onwards.

The proposals would update the so-called EU General Safety Regulation (GSR) which has not been changed for ten years.

They would include the compulsory fitting to new cars of the latest autonomous safety systems such as advanced emergency braking, speed assistance and lane-keeping systems.

Thatcham says the proposals are some of the most significant in the past decade and has called on the UK Government and carmakers not to stall on making Autonomous Emergency Braking (AEB) mandatory on all cars and vans.

Matthew Avery, director of research at Thatcham Research, comments: "Just as seatbelts are a legal requirement on all cars and vans, AEB should be as well."

"We have campaigned for many years for it to be standard on all vehicles, and with the latest AEB

FITTED AS STANDARD: A leading crash research group wants potentially life-saving Autonomous Emergency Braking as a legal requirement in all cars and vans like seatbelts systems now capable of identifying pedestrians and cyclists, there is an opportunity for the UK

Government to address the growing number of cyclist and pedestrian fatalities.

"We would hope that no blockers are put in the way by carmakers or parliamentarians around making these technologies mandatory on all UK cars and vans as soon as possible."

According to Thatcham Research, cars fitted with AEB are 38 per cent less likely to be involved in real-world rear-end crashes.

It has calculated that the system has the potential to save 1,100 lives and more than 120,000 casualties over the next 10 years.

In the UK only 30 per cent of cars on sale have AEB as standard, as it is mostly offered as an optional extra.

More worrying says Thatcham Research, is the fact that of the top 10 best-selling UK car brands in 2017, only one – Land Rover – had 100 per cent fitment across its model range while, significantly, the top two car brands – Ford and Vauxhall – had only seven per cent and 14 per cent fitment respectively across their entire car ranges.

As a local, independent garage, we know we have to try harder...

...or else!

At Autoworks, we never forget that you have a choice when it comes to who you use to service or repair your car.

That's why we always go that extra mile in making sure we provide you with the best possible 'experience' when you do take the trouble to choose us.

Not only do we provide many additional benefits when it comes to using us; we also work very hard behind the scenes with continual training and development, giving you the extra reassurance that we do know what we're doing.

And as an independent, not driven by corporate targets, we also like to think that you'll be pleasantly surprised by our prices.

Spurs quartet form spine of England side in World Cup build-up

READY FOR RUSSIA

By Brian Jeeves

ENGLAND boss Gareth Southgate was reasonably satisfied with his side's performance as a rugged Nigeria side were edged out 2-1 in a competitive FIFA World Cup warm-up match at Wembley Stadium on Saturday.

Goals from Gary Cahill and skipper, Harry Kane, gave the Three Lions a comfortable two-goal advantage at the break. However, Arsenal's Alex Iwobi reduced the arrears immediately after the interval as the visitors offered an altogether tougher contest to their hosts.

This was England's penultimate match before heading out to Russia for this summer's tournament.

Southgate selected Tottenham Hotspur quartet, Kieran Trippier, Eric Dier, Dele Alli and Kane in his starting line-up.

Trippier went close in the opening stages – his troublesome dead-ball effort turned away by Nigerian goalkeeper, Francis Uzoho.

But from the resulting flag-kick from Trippier, Chelsea's Cahill rose unchallenged to head England into the lead.

The home side were clearly keen to put on a show. Raheem Sterling was a whisker away from adding a second – his effort drifting the wrong side of an upright after being sent clear by Alli.

Uzoho denied Alli at his near post, while Leon Balogun's timely interception from Lingard's centre saved the day for the visitors.

Odion Ighalo tested Pickford as Nigeria finally offered a threat. However, they were almost immediately undone – Sterling firing over from 12 yards.

A second goal always looked on the cards, and it came from a familiar source. Kane fired a low, right-footed drive beyond Uzoho after Sterling had fashioned the opening. It was no more than England deserved.

Nigeria made a clutch of changes at the break, which provided an instant tonic. Now looking altogether more fluent, Arsenal's Iwobi lashed home from close range within two minutes of the restart after Ighalo's effort had cannoned back off a post.

Trippier wasn't far away, heading Ashley Young's corner narrowly wide as the hosts looked to restore a two-goal advantage. But the balance had shifted, with Nigeria looking the brighter side as England weathered the second-half storm.

This had proved to be a competitive workout for England as they make final preparations for Russia.

Summarising the match, Southgate said: "Really pleased with the first half. I thought it was an excellent performance with the ball – really good movement and interchange between the front four. "We managed to overload the mid-field and whenever Raheem and Harry came short, Dele and Jesse made some fantastic runs in behind.

"There was a lot of unselfish one and two-touch play and that really pleased me. We also won the ball back really quickly, and I thought we played from the back with good composure. That was as good a half as we've had I think."

When asked if he was any nearer to knowing his starting 11 for their opening match with Tunisia on June 18, Southgate said: "I wouldn't necessarily say that was the side that starts against Tunisia, but clearly, it wouldn't be far away."

England face Costa Rica at Elland Road, Leeds on Thursday, June 7 (8pm).

Non-league round-up

Triple signing for Basildon United

By Brian Jeeves

BASILDON United continue to shape their squad ahead of their first season back at Isthmian League level with the signing of Ruben Paapa Asamoah and Brian Moses from Essex Senior League sides, Stansted and Redbridge.

Powerful right-back, Asamoah, was clearly delighted to be linking up with the Bees, telling Yellow Sport: "I am happy to be given an opportunity to make the step up. I spoke to Marc and Liam about the upcoming season and it sounds like big things are happening. I can't wait to get started."

Meanwhile, assistant manager, Liam Wallace, added: "We are really happy to get Reuben on board with us. We saw him play a few times last season. He has bundles of energy and quality and with the right coaching, he will be a real talent."

Frontman Moses proved his worth with Redbridge, hitting 28 goals during the last campaign and finishing as the ESL's second highest marksman.

Bees boss, Marc Harrison, was upbeat over his latest acquisition. "I'm delighted to have signed such a talented player in Brian," he told Yellow Sport.

"Brian has so many attributes he can bring to the team. Liam [Wallace] and I admire his work ethic and quality. We want Brian to progress at another level."

Concord Rangers have bolstered their ranks with the signing of experienced defensive midfielder, Jack Parkinson. The 28-year-old arrives at the Aspect Arena in a player-coach capacity having previously represented Woking, Maidstone United, Dover Athletic, Margate and most recently, Welling United.

Parkinson becomes the 14th player to put pen to paper since new boss, Sammy Moore, took charge at the Canvey-based outfit.

The club has announced a pre-season friendly with Phoenix Sports at the Kent club's Mayplace Ground on Thursday, July 26 (7.45pm).

East Thurrock United manager, John Coventry, has explained the reasoning behind a number of changes on the playing side at the National League South outfit.

The Rocks finished the last campaign in 15th place, but endured a disappointing run-in, with a string of defeats leaving Coventry frustrated as his side looked to continue their recent progress.

In a statement on the club's official website, Coventry said: "Supporters would have seen a long list of those that will not be playing for East Thurrock FC next season. I would like to give you some insight to my thinking.

"At the end of last season, which ended in six straight defeats, I felt that if I started the following season with the same group of players I would have ignored the warning signs and it could be a difficult season.

"Also I had to think that if I expect supporters to pay to watch us in the future it's my responsibility to make sure last season's end-of-form does not carry over into next season.

"Therefore I made the decision to change a very high percentage of the playing staff, which I knew would be a difficult challenge. However, I can say that at this moment things are going well and I am quietly excited."

The Rocks have confirmed that Max Cornhill, Michael Clark, Reece Harris, Lewis Smith, Ryan Sammons, James White, Lukas Lidakevicius and Montel Agyemang have all parted company with the club, while Ioanees, Harry Phipps and George Allen have returned to Maidstone United and Canvey Island respectively.

Sam Higgins, Lee Burns, Ben Marlow, Ryan Scott and Sammy Knott will all be returning to Rookery Hill next season, while Joe Christou, Harry Honesty and Simon Peddie are yet to decide their futures.

BIG BAND: The Glenn Miller Orchestra are coming to Southend

SOUTHEND is gearing up to be graced by one of the world's leading orchestras.

The Glenn Miller Orchestra, led by Ray McVay and featuring the Polka Dot Dolls, will be appearing at the Cliffs Pavilion on Sunday, June 10.

Back in the late 1930s and early 1940s Miller and his orchestra packed the dance halls in the States.

The band enjoyed a string of hits such as In the Mood and Tuxedo Junction, as well as Moonlight Serenade and Chattanooga Choo Choo.

The Second World War brought the Miller magic to the UK. In 1944, the band's musical style and showmanship immediately endeared them to audiences.

They played 80-odd concerts in the country and performed 40 radio broadcasts between July and December that year.

On December 15, 1944, Miller boarded a single engine C-64 Norseman aircraft to travel to Paris, where he was to make arrangements for a Christmas broadcast.

Tragically, the plane never reached France and was never found.

As far as UK music-lovers were concerned, a special relationship had been forged between them, Miller and his music – a bond that continues to this day.

The current UK band was put together in 1988 by legendary musical entertainer McVay in conjunction with Glenn Miller Productions in

New York. McVay, previously best known as musical director for the original Come Dancing series on BBC, approached the offices of the Miller estate 30 years ago seeking an arrangement to operate a Glenn Miller Orchestra in UK.

The orchestra maintains the exact line-up on stage devised by Miller, consisting of the leader, five saxophones, four trumpets, four trombones and three rhythm players plus a male and female vocalist. The show features the sublime voices of Mark Porter and Catherine Sykes, as well as the glorious harmonies of the Moonlight Serenaders.

The band's library comprises of more than 200 scores, many of them from the original library, which includes arrangements from both the civilian and Army Air Force orchestras.

Songs made famous by Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Louis Armstrong are in the show, which also pays tribute to other big band leaders of the age such as Artie Shaw and Benny Goodman.

McVay, brings over 50 years of musical entertainment experience to the job of putting smiles on the faces of today's audiences.

Those who want to relive the music and songs of an era that gave birth to rock'n'roll or experience it for the first time, should not miss out.

Tickets are available at <https://southendtheatres.org.uk/Online/tickets-glenn-miller-orchestra-southend-2018>.

DINOSAUR: Chris Pratt as Owen Grady

JURASSIC WORLD: FALLEN KINGDOM (12A, 128 mins)

RELEASED in 2015, Jurassic World – the fourth instalment of the blockbuster franchise – became the second highest grossing film that particular year behind Star Wars Episode VII: The Force Awakens.

A splashy sequel subtitled Fallen Kingdom beckons with Spanish film-maker J A Bayona in the director's chair and high expectations that dinosaurs will rule the box office again this summer.

It has been three years since the Jurassic World theme park on Isla Nublar welcomed its last guests.

Genetically engineered beasts roam freely, contained on their island sanctuary off the Pacific coast of Central America.

Scientists discover that a volcanic eruption is imminent, which will render the dinosaurs extinct. Again.

Former park manager Claire Dearing (Bryce Dallas Howard) and her gung-ho boyfriend Owen

Grady (Chris Pratt) agree to return to the fallen paradise to oversee a rescue mission that will transplant the remaining wildlife to a new facility on the American mainland.

Benjamin Lockwood (James Cromwell), a former business associate of Jurassic Park's founder John Hammond, provides the financial muscle to complete the evacuation before the volcano explodes.

However, external forces are working against Claire and Owen, and a flesh-hungry dinosaur hybrid escapes its enclosure with terrifying repercussions for the nearby population.

Released: June 6
